Flavius Hierius

(fl. 425 - 432)

BRIEFING

Flavius Hierius (Greek: Ἱέριος; floruit 425–432) was a politician of the Eastern Roman Empire.

LIFE

Hierius was Praetorian prefect of the East a first time from 425 to 428, then a second time in 432. In 427, he also held the consulate, with Ardabur as a colleague, both chosen by the Eastern court. In 427 he also restored and dedicated the Baths of Constantine (also called "of Theodosius").
